

Cornice Nr. 132 “Small Georgian”

(Georgian in Style)

Only just on the small side of average, this apparently Georgian design is actually quite a modern design of cornice. We often install this one into the “better” type of newly built homes.

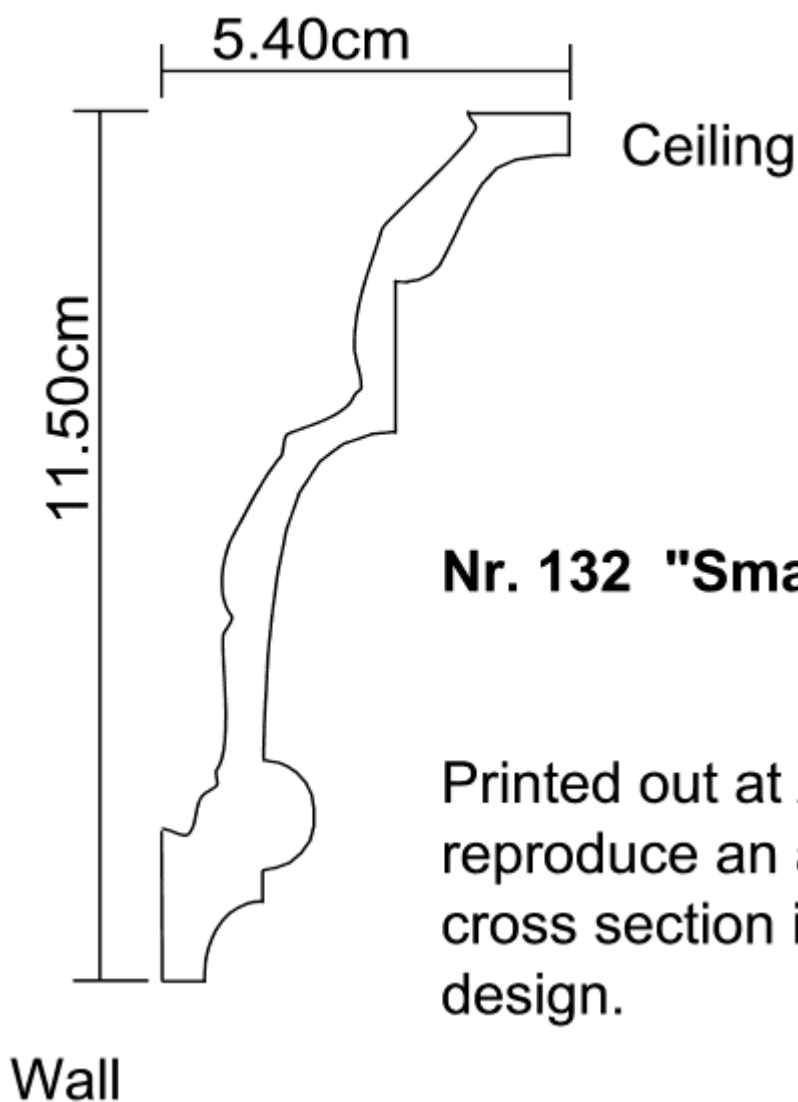

This pattern is usually chosen because parts of the cross sectional profile often resemble components fitted in these more upmarket homes. To ascertain this fact for yourself, please refer to the full size cross sectional sketch opposite on page two of this very document.

Projection 54mm. (c.2”)

Depth 155mm. (c.6”)

Length of Cast 3325mm. (10’9”)

Plain Run Section

Nr. 132 "Small Georgian"

Printed out at A4 size, this should reproduce an approximate full size cross section image of this cornice design.

Additionally we have an actual sample / example of this pattern on show at our Shaw Cross, Dewsbury premises.

If possible, please do call to inspect this if you wish.

Page two of two