

Cornice Nr. 156 “Leaf”

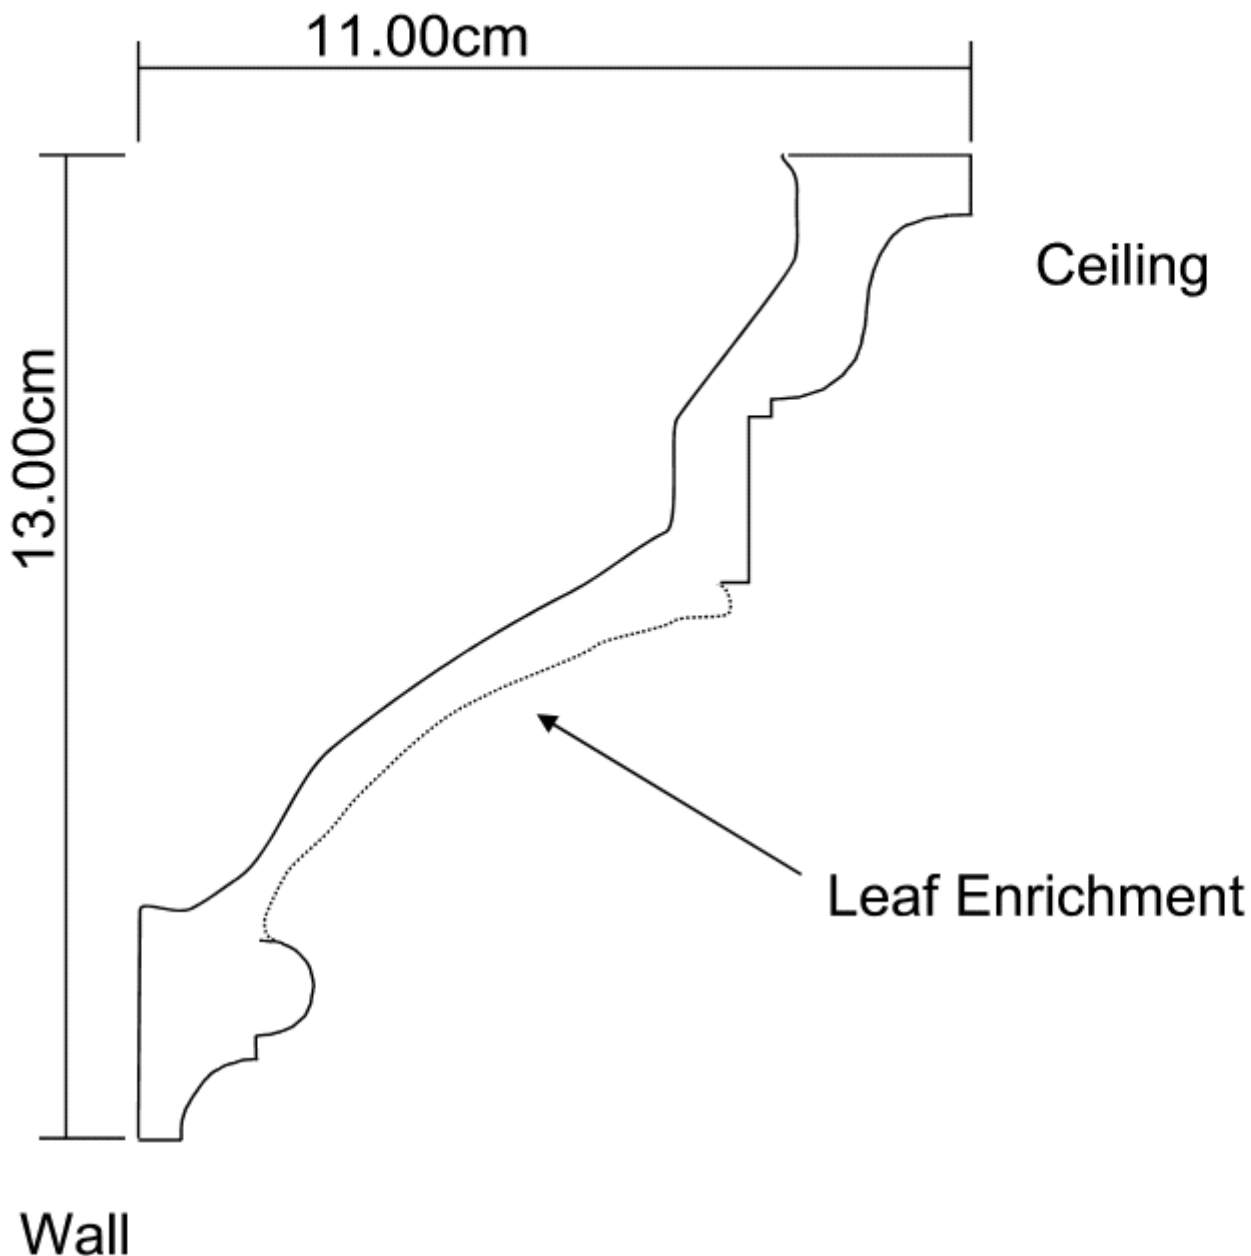

A comparatively new addition to our large range of cornice designs, this leaf design is genuinely “average sized”.

This pattern is not from a particular historical period, but it is a classical, well proportioned profile and design.

Equally suitable for domestic or commercial premises, consider using this design in almost any situation or area with a spectrum of ceiling heights.

An full size approximation of this cornice cross section appears on page two of this document.
